national engagement overview

The CAREGIVING project, established by WETA, is multi-faceted and is accompanied by an engagement program designed to bring communities together to reflect on caregiving and caregivers and explore their profound impact on our shared communities. All are invited to join this campaign by fostering conversations and creating opportunities that celebrate the diversity within your community.

CAREGIVING provides a platform for communities to engage in a national conversation about care and caregiving in the United States.

local engagement overview

Detroit PBS and PBS Books have launched CAREGIVING Initiative, a multi-faceted project which provides connection to online resources, creates digital content, promotes of library engagement , and builds community for caregivers.

An initiative for SE Michigan and Western New York communities to engage in state-wide conversation about care and caregiving in the United States.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT RESOURCE GUIDE

Created by WETA

setting up a screening

community partners

A great starting point for your screening plans is to collaborate with local partners. Involve potential partners early in the planning process and tap into their expertise to shape your efforts. Partners can offer invaluable insights, recommend panelists, and help promote and support community events. Specifically, they might:

- Recommend or serve as local experts for a panel discussion.
- Offer venues or help promote screenings to their networks.
- Participate in the event by hosting a table or showcasing their work.

screening reels

want to set up a screening?

WETA offers screening reels for public media stations, libraries, partners, and other organizations. These reels feature segments from the film that highlight the history of caregiving in the United States and feature first person stories from the perspectives of a diverse group of caregivers.

Request a screener: bit.ly/CaregivingScreenerReq

discussion questions

This section is divided into themes and serves as a springboard for discussion. Feel free to use these questions to initiate meaningful dialogue or create new questions that connect directly with your own community. Please share questions with panelists and speakers ahead of time to allow them to prepare, particularly taking into account the historical background necessary to properly discuss these topics.

- Questions for the filmmakers
- Innovation and the future of care
- Understanding the challenges
- Support and the “needs gap”
- Social and policy reflections
- Reflecting on personal impact
- Practical support and advice
- personal action and awareness

A caregiving Story

short films

The CAREGIVING project includes A Caregiving Story, 18 short films that examine current caregiving experiences, programs and perspectives at individual, family and community levels. The Caregiving short films are available on wellbeings.org and the Well Beings YouTube Channel.

education resources

To support educators, CAREGIVING is accompanied by educational materials for middle and high school classrooms.

The CAREGIVING Collection on PBS LearningMedia encourages students to learn about caregiving issues and their impact on American society. The six, standards-based, classroom-ready education resources include video segments from the series, discussion questions, vocabulary, and student-led activities - all accessible for free to educators on PBS LearningMedia.

Topics in the Caregiver Guide include:

- Understanding Caregiving
- Communicating with Healthcare Providers
- Chronic Illnesses and Disabilities Caregiving
- Pediatric Caregiving
- Senior Caregiving
- Legal Rights and Responsibilities
- Financial Management and Resources
- Support Networks & Resources
- The Importance of Self-Care

share your story

Each story of caregiving is unique, and the public is invited to help share the complexity, delights and difficulties of caregiving via #ShareYourCaregivingStory on social media or the We Are Well Beings Storywall at wellbeings.org/share-your-story. Join in by sharing personal reflections, photos, videos and stories while building a community of understanding about caregiving.

Caregiving

Caregivers are unsung heroes, selflessly providing comfort and physical and emotional support to their loved ones. It is a pervasive yet often invisible challenge, affecting over 53 million unpaid caregivers in the U.S., who endure emotional strain, financial hardship, and isolation. More than likely, at some point in our lives, we all will become a caregiver for someone we love. In partnership with the Delia C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation, Detroit PBS is elevating the critical role

The advertisement features a photograph of a man and a woman in a grocery store. The man is standing and looking at a product, while the woman is pushing a shopping cart. A blue text box is overlaid on the image. To the right, the main headline reads 'Mi Caregiver Connection Support is just a click away!' in white and orange text. Below this, a paragraph explains that support is available for Michigan caregivers and provides the website 'MiCaregiverConnection.com'. A 'Learn More' button is located at the bottom.
